BANDIT TAKES LIFE WITH LAST BULLET

TENNESSEE OUTMAN CREATES POSE AFTER HARD FIGHT NEAR LA JUNTA, COLO.

Slain of His Girl Wife Caused Man to Run Amuck and Shoot Four People and Burn a Town Near Big Horn, Mont.

La Junta, Colo.—Shooting desperate by every inch of ground to save before a crowd led by his dismounted deputy sheriff, resulted almost in death.

George Collins, Tennessee gambler, accused a woman's people behind a barkeep and fired the last bullet in his revolver through his brain, then was captured by law at 11 o'clock Sunday.

Collins, after shooting four persons, two of whom are in a critical condition, and burning a summer resort hotel at North Platte Friday night, fled to the hills and had been hunted for a dozen miles since then.

It is thought that Collins tried to get to Las Cruces, N. M., and complete his planned rampage by killing his girl wife, who recently deserted him. It was because of her desertion and because he thought a number of people at North Platte had turned for against him that Collins ran amuck Friday.

He was a stage driver, and came to Colorado from Copperhill, Tenn., about two years ago.

FUGITIVES ARE DESPERATE. Their Lot One of Suffering and Gloom, But They Were Glad to Escape.

La Junta, N. M.—The condition of Mormon colonists who have arrived here from Colorado, Utah and Omaha continues to be one of suffering and sorrow. They are desperately in need of clothing, bedding and other necessities of bodily comfort. There is a scarcity of food and water.

The refugees are discouraged and heart sick, but are glad to escape with their lives, considering the physical and mental suffering they have undergone.

On the morning of July 25 an airplane came to the colonists from General Salazar flying them until the evening of the day to get across the frontier or suffer a massacre. The news came with the suddenness of lightning in a clear sky, but the message was too sinister to be disregarded.

TRAGEDY IN STREETS OF TACOMA. Traveling Men Shot to Death and Then Turned on Themselves.

Tacoma—Clara A. White, aged 37, traveling saleswoman for a Tacoma grocery house, was shot and killed early Sunday on one of the busiest corners of Tacoma by E. J. Templeton of Washington, Wash., a former traveling salesman for a Spokane grocery house. Templeton shot and killed three bullets through his own breast and fell dead beside his victim.

The murder and suicide, according to the police, was the result of an estrangement between Templeton and his wife, whose photograph was found in the pockets of each of the men.

Danish-Americans Call on King. Aarhus, Denmark—King Christian on Sunday received at Marienborg castle the members of the committee representing the Association of Danish-Americans which has presented a new national park in Zealand to the government. The American initiative to Denmark, Dr. Maurice, on behalf of President Taft, honorary president of the association, read a message from Mr. Taft extending greetings to the king and people of Denmark.

Must Accept Roosevelt's Doctrine. New York.—The National Progressive party must accept Colonel Roosevelt's political doctrine if he is to be its standard bearer. SENATE EXTENDS AID TO REFUGEES

AMERICANS DRIVEN FROM MEXICO BY BANDITS TO BE SENT TO THEIR FORMER HOMES.

Appropriates One Hundred Thousand Dollars to Provide Transportation and House for Expected to Ratify Action.

Washington—A resolution offered by Senator Bailey appropriating $100,000 to provide transportation for American refugees now at El Paso, Texas, to the homes of relatives and friends passed the senate Friday afternoon without opposition.

Senator Smoot has been working on the plan for two or three days with a view to securing an appropriation sufficient to put it into execution.

Congressman Howell, together with congressmen from Texas and New Mexico, will make an effort to push the resolution through the house so that the money may be immediately available. It is not thought there will be any serious opposition to the measure.

Senator Bailey declared the refugees were in dire need, and in many cases, were unable to proceed to El Paso. Transportation would be provided under the resolution on the basis of the number of refugees in El Paso.

HAINES FORGES TO FRONT. Later Returns Indicate That He Is the Winner in Gubernatorial Race.

Bone, Idaho—John M. Haines of Idaho forged to the front in the Republican gubernatorial race Friday through later election returns received from southwestern counties, but to still being closely pushed by Paul Chambers of north Idaho. It is safe to say now that Haines has a lead of 100 votes. It is very doubtful if he can possibly secure a two-thirds vote, and in that event a recount will be necessary of both first and second choice votes.

The candidates, both Republicans and Democrats, who now stand in the lead upon the returns received are as follows:

Republican—Governor, Haines; United States senator, Haines; lieutenant governor, French; justice of the supreme court, Bennett; secretary of state, Gifford; treasurer, Allen; auditor, Thurston; attorney general, Palmer; superintendent of schools, Zepher; mine inspector, Bell.

GOVERNORS MEET AT IDAHO CAPITAL

CHIEF EXECUTIVES OF FIVE STATES DISCUSS MEANS OF DEVELOPING THE WEST

Declare for State Rights and Against the Conservation Policy as Now Fastened on the Western States by Federal Department Heads.

Butte, Idaho—Delegates for state rights and against the conservation policy, as now fastened upon the western states by federal department heads, through their rules, regulations and construction of laws, passed with the object of holding sessions, Governor Norris of Montana, on Thursday opened the first annual session of the conference of western governors here. The opening of the important subject by the chief executives present, and prominent representatives of other states, started the conference off on a live wire issue that may develop into crystallized action towards bringing relief.

The surprise of the opening day's conference was a proposal made by Idaho, a champion of federalism, personal representative of Governor Blodgett of Colorado, a big electrical power developer of that state, that the conference should be held in the state of Idaho, and that the conference should be held in the state of Idaho, and that the conference should be held in the state of Idaho.

President is Officially Notified by Committee. Taft Accepts Nomination in Address Which Will be Used as Campaign Document by His Supporters.

Washington—Republican leaders who crowded the east room of the White House on Thursday to hear President Taft's speech accepting nomination for the presidency were silent Thursday night that his address would be the real "keynote" of the campaign, and expressed the belief that it was one of the best speeches Mr. Taft has delivered since he was elected.

Members of the pro-Republican leaders, Senators Root, Lodge, Smoot, Crane and Representatives Mann, Payne and others were present at the president's address which will be used as a campaign document.

The conference itself was short and simple. The president and Senator Root spoke from a platform raised a few feet above the floor of the east room. Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Leonard Wood, Mrs. Beckman, Winthrop, wife of the assistant secretary of the navy, and Mrs. A. G. McClellan, the only woman present, sat just below the platform, while around the hall circle were grouped members of the committee, senators and congressmen and other invited guests.

The affair was informal. Most of the committee and congressmen appeared in conventional dress. After the speech the president disappeared into his private apartments for a few minutes and returned wearing a silk house coat instead of his formal dress suit and acted as waiter for Mrs. Taft and the other women, and nudged among the guests to luncheon in the state dining room.

Your title to the nomination is no longer and unimpeachable as the title of any candidate since the political conventions began.

That was the keynote of Senator John Root's address to President Taft, when, as chairman of the committee of notification, he formally advised the president of his nomination by the Chicago convention.

President Taft declared that the three great issues of the campaign in the order of their importance are: first, maintenance of the nation's credit; second, the tariff; third, regulation of trusts.

He stands on the record of the Republican party, and points to his own administration as an era of greatest progress.

"To them turn who reverse the constitution and the institutions of their government; I appeal as to all Republicans, to join in an effort to bring the political and economic and business conditions which Republicanism will bring about."

He was greeted by enthusiastic applause and unimpeachable much cheering. Democrats have seized the opportunity to influence the public mind that they might turn peculiar conditions to their own advantage.

These gentlemen think those who have left the Republican party and our old opponents, the Democrats, promise to reform the government.

Leading liberals all over the country have been through into action. Captain Teodoro's reports are that the situation is said to be aggravated by poor crops. Telegrams were given out by the revolutionists.

case of waterways and waterfalls that were interested in character.

Butte, Idaho—The conference of western governors on Friday discussed the plan of working out a system of interstate highways through the cooperation of the thirteen states in the association, after Governor Hawley of Idaho had made the proposition in the paper he read to the visiting executives, considering at length prison reform, discussing the Oregon system presented by Governor West, and the question of the entertainment of visitors to the west during the 1915 exposition.

The governors were guests of ex-Governor James H. Hays of New Mexico and entertained by the Hays family at their club at night, as well as were guests of honor at the league baseball game in the afternoon.

Governor West advocated the sterilization of degenerate prisoners and confinement within prisons during the balance of their life. Governor Hawley declared he was unopposed to the placing of criminals in the penitentiary in a penal farm, under the honor system, and stated he would not go after than 25 per cent of the prisoners.

Less Governor West seemed to surprise by advocating 50 per cent of more.

Governor Odell advocated the preparation by all states and their cities for special entertainments during the exposition year to attract the visitors, concentrating them in the more populated centers.

Governor Oswald West of Oregon was honored Saturday night by the conference of western governors by being elected president of the conference for the ensuing year. This act of the governors, together with the election of Governor Odell of Nevada as secretary, the selection of Salt Lake as the place for the next meeting, together with the passage of important resolutions, closed the first meeting of the conference. All of the visiting governors left Saturday night for their respective states after an excursion to Arrow Rock to see the big dam construction work.

The two officers elected and the governor of the state where the next meeting will be held, Spry of Utah, constitute the executive committee of the conference and are authorized to meet later and set the dates for the next annual conference.

The resolutions adopted by the conference call for the speedy adoption by the federal and state governments of policies for the conservation of natural resources more beneficial to the states themselves; give the states power to regulate the use of water; require every investment, large liberal appropriations for the San Francisco exposition by all western states; do their utmost to secure the use of western states in the use of states in labor and streams for irrigation purposes and the construction of storage reservoirs to prevent floods.
